Citizens of the Famous Cumberland Valley Organize for Good Roads—Better Mail Facilities, etc.

The citizens of Cumberland Valley met in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Centreville on Monday, and effected an organization and styled it the "Cumberland Valley Good Roads Association."

Cumberland Valley is the richest township in Bedford County and has a State Road running from end to end of it. The township lies between two parallel mountains, Everts and Wills, and has two main highways following the foothills of each mountain. These two highways of course have short connecting highways at intervals of two to five miles, and since the state has taken over one of the main arteries of travel, that of the west side, the people have taken an aggressive step to build up and improve the other and the connecting links.

The organization of the farmers consists of N. G. Bortz, President; F. G. Mickey, Secretary; A. D. Derringer, Treasurer, and S. S. Nave, F. G. Mickey and J. L. Bortz, Executive Committee with D. C. Reiley, Attorney.

What Cumberland Valley needs next is better mail facilities. A great township like Cumberland Valley suffering with mail facilities a day late can hardly be imagined. All the mail going out remains in the post office at Centreville over night and all the mail going in does the same. The whole thing can be changed so that the people may have mail by having the rural carriers from Bedford meet the rural carrier from Centreville at Wertz's corner and take the mail from that point. All the mail for the Valley could be worked in the Bedford office and a pouch made up for the Centreville office and one for the free delivery. The only mail the Centreville postmaster would need to bother with would be the mail for those patrons who call at the office. The rural mail would not pass through his hands at all. When the rural carrier, Mr. Derringer, takes the mail at Wertz's corner he would begin to deliver to the patrons until he gets to Centreville where he would leave the pouch for the office and proceed on his journey. The Cumberland mail would get to the patrons one day earlier as well as the Bedford mail because the rural carrier takes all mail coming on the morning trains. Think this over. Why suffer this inconsistency unnecessarily. Besides it would eliminate the cost of the carrier over the mountain from Hyndman and part of the expenses could go to helping the carrier from Bedford and the Centreville rural man.

BROAD TOP BOOMING.

According to advices from Everett and culling from papers, Hon. Joseph E. Thropp, of Everett expects to start the Saxton furnaces this summer. He says that the Broad Top region is booming with prosperity and that the coke and iron business is flourishing as never before. Mr. Thropp expects to open up a new mine near Kearney and the mines, ovens and furnace will give employment to 500 or more men. This wonderful prosperity does not at all comport with the prediction made by Mr. Thropp in Everett that if the Democrats get into control, we will see the worst panic ever known in history. The iron man did not know what he was talking about and instead of having the greatest panic ever known we are having the greatest prosperity ever known and Mr. Thropp is reaping the benefits of it all, and all under a Democratic administration, too. The Saxton furnaces closed down during or after the panic of 1907 when Republicans were controlling the National and State governments and when they had the very highest protection in the form of a tariff. This seems to nullify the argument that a high tariff is necessary to keep the mill wheels going. The most we need is keener competition, less "pork barrel" and more common sense legislation.

Civic Club Meeting.

The Bedford Civic Club held its monthly meeting in the Trust Building, Monday evening, the attendance being very gratifying, and several new members being admitted. Reports of the various committees were heard and plans suggested and discussed for acquiring funds necessary to promote the work the Club has undertaken. Dr. A. Enfield spoke of the work to be done by the Government toward beautifying and preserving the grounds surrounding the Post Office Building and after discussing the matter at length, the club decided to place an order for trees and shrubbery to improve the southeast square, and to begin the work at an early date.

On March 28, in Assembly Hall, Irvin C. Williams of the State Forestry Department, will make an address on "Trees and their Care" and Bedford should give him a good audience, as the subject is a most interesting and important one.

Nature gave us "a Bedford beautiful" and one of the chief aims of the Club is to keep it so. This should not be a difficult matter, but only organized effort will produce the desired results. We do not need strangers' praise to call to mind the beauty of our town, nor do we need them to point out its defects and unsightly spots. We love it, be we residents of a year or of a lifetime, but we want it bigger, better, brighter.

We are prone to knock but let us lay aside that desire and help the Club in its good work. More and more members are needed, even though the list is steadily growing, and the women of the town are earnestly requested to attend the meetings and lend their aid.

Judge Bailey's Decision on the Liquor Applications at Huntingdon, A New Feature in Interpretation of Brooks Law.

From the testimony adduced by the petitioners there appears as the particular and controlling reason for the necessity of the license that with the bar the petitioners would be able to furnish better boarding and more fit lodging for the guests. It is expected that the patronage of the bar will assist in paying the expenses incident to the operation of the other departments of the hotel. The theory of the applicants is that they cannot, in the absence of the bar, furnish adequate hotel accommodations at the price fixed by them as proper without loss, and the conclusion follows that they expect to give to the boarders in the hotel by reason of the bar, by way of boarding and lodging, actually more than they pay for.

"This court does not believe that the act of May 13, 1887, under which this application is made, contemplates that a gift of any part of the hotel accommodation by the landlord is the touchstone upon which the necessity of a license is to be tested."

BEST GRAIN FOR FATTENING

Oats Finely Ground or With Coarser Hulls Sifted Out Should Form Basis of All Mixtures.

A satisfactory fattening ration is one that is palatable and that will produce a white-colored flesh. Oats, finely ground or with the coarser hulls sifted out, have proved the best grain for fattening and should form the basis of all the grain mixtures. The most suitable meals for fattening are: ground oats, buckwheat, barley and low-grade flour.

Satisfactory fattening rations:

- (1) Finely ground oats.
- (2) Two parts finely ground oats, one part fine shorts.
- (3) Two parts finely ground oats, one part ground barley, one part fine shorts.
- (4) Two parts finely ground oats, one part fine shorts, one part low grade flour.
- (5) Equal parts ground oats, barley, fine shorts and low-grade flour.

The meal should be mixed to a thin porridge with sour milk, skim milk or buttermilk. On the average 10 pounds of meal require from 12 to 15 pounds of milk.

When sufficient skim milk or buttermilk cannot be obtained for mixing the mash, a quantity of meat meal blood meal or beef scraps and raw vegetables should be added to the fattening ration. A good proportion is one part of the meat meal to 15 of oat meal.

The birds should remain in the fattening crates for a period not exceeding 24 days. Some birds will fatten more readily than others and should, therefore, be removed from the crate and killed as soon as they are ready.

Charcoal for Chickens.

A box of charcoal should be kept where the chickens can get at it.

Husband and Wife Both Saved From Suffering

I wish to tell you the good results myself and husband received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root. About eleven years ago I had a severe attack of La Grippe and was confined to my bed about eight weeks under the doctor's care. He pronounced my case kidney trouble and rheumatism and not receiving the results from the doctor's treatment I should have received, I decided to try Swamp Root. After taking several bottles of Swamp Root I was able to get up and attend my work. About a year later my husband was affected with a severe attack of kidney trouble and doctored for some time with the doctors and received no benefit. Knowing of the good I had received, he decided to try Swamp Root. His condition was such that he was confined to his bed and words cannot tell how he suffered, but after taking Swamp Root he was relieved so he could go on with his work without pain. I wish to heartily recommend Swamp Root to all persons afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles and you may publish this letter if you wish.

Yours truly,

Hints Worth Trying.

To use the embroidered front of an old waist—You can make a pretty fancy apron in a few minutes from the embroidered front of an old shirt-waist. First, cut out close to the armholes and seam, and band, then double in exact center from top to bottom, curve out the top, round the bottom, and edge with lace, use ribbon for your band and strings.

To remove the squeak from shoes—Place a small amount of water in a pan and put the soles of the shoes in water for twenty minutes. Remove them and you will find not only the squeak gone but the shoes soft and pliable.

To renew shoe lacing—When the metal tips come off your shoelace, wind the end firmly and closely with black thread and sew. You will have a tip as good as the one that came off.

WATER FOR CHRISTENING.

There seems to be some confusion on the part of certain good people concerning the attitude of the W. C. T. U. with regard to the christening of ships with champagne. The Outlook said editorially: "The opposition of extreme temperance advocates has always been difficult to understand. It contends that inasmuch as 'a bottle smashed on the bow of a battleship is one bottle that can never be drunk, such an event ought to be regarded as another blow to the consumption of liquor.'"

Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, being asked to give the white-ribboners' viewpoint, said: "Our friends, the 'nonextremists,' are taking a narrow and superficial view of the question. They are losing sight of the symbolism of the rite itself. Consider the root meaning of the word christening. One of the dictionary definitions of to christen is, 'to name, as a ship by a ceremony likened to baptism.' Always baptism in the Christian economy has been with water. If in days gone by spirituous liquors were supposed to give long life and to bring good luck, the revelations of science have thoroughly exploded that theory. Water is a symbol of life, alcohol a symbol of disease, destruction and death, the enemy of life and of efficiency, hence the christening of any ship with champagne is an absurdity and an anachronism."

Newspapers in the Kitchen.

I always have a neat bunch of newspapers, cut to convenient size, hanging handy in the kitchen, and find it very useful.

To wipe greasy dishes, pots and pans, before washing.

To wipe the greasy stove immediately after cooking and frying.

To spread on the kitchen table while preparing meals, thus saving much scrubbing of table.

To wipe boots and shoes before mud dries.

Also, I use strips of newspapers for pantry shelves, cutting the edges fancy, and renewing often.

I place a number under layers of carpet I pack the winter clothes away in newspapers—in fact, I use newspapers for all kinds of packing, for I find it fully as safe and much cleaner than sawdust, excelsior, hay or straw.—Ev.

Always Safety First.

"You say that you want some name engraved on this ring," said the jeweler to the bashful young man.

"Yes, I want the words 'George to his dearest Alice,' engraved on the inside of the ring."

"Is the young lady your sister?"

"No; she is the young lady to whom I am engaged."

"Well, if I were you I would not have 'George, to his dearest Alice,' engraved on the ring. If Alice changes her mind, you can't use the ring again."

"What would you suggest?"

"I would suggest the words 'George, to his first and only love. You see, with that inscription you can use the ring half a dozen times. I have had experience in such matters myself.'"

BAILEY NITED.

Congressman Warren Worth Bailey got completely nited about the Bedford Gazette's Editorial last week as was shown by a two column reply recently. He charges that the "Gazette has failed not only in the interpretation of the events at Washington, but has also failed to acquaint itself with the views entertained by the men in the district, who in the last analysis bear the financial burdens of our government."

"Hasn't Mr. Bailey fought the President in every movement since Mr. Bryan left the Cabinet? Didn't Mr. Bailey last fall hurry to Washington to fulfill an engagement with Mr. Bryan? For what? Wasn't it for the purpose of outlining a campaign against the President and the Administration. For what else was it? Hasn't Mr. Bailey followed the dictations of W. J. Bryan and completely ignored the President? Where has Mr. Bailey stood with the President and the Administration? Hasn't Mr. Bailey fought the President on his 'Preparedness' program? Didn't Mr. Bailey vote against the recommendations of the President in warning Americans to keep off armed merchant vessels? Aren't these events of Washington? Aren't they the principal events in this Congress? What other events of importance have occupied the public mind? Mr. Bailey seems to puff himself over the fact that he voted to warn the American people to quit sailing on armed merchant vessels of the enemy. The McLemore resolution could have no other purpose other than to embarrass the President and the Administration. What would a warning amount to? Mr. Bailey used the editor's name in his editorial so we take the liberty to use Mr. Bailey's name to draw a conclusion. Suppose Mr. Bailey wanted to go into the foreign countries on business. He won't of course but as he says, suppose he does. Then the United States government says, you had better not go on that vessel, its armed for defense. But Mr. Bailey, as he says, is no 'rubber stamp' individual and goes as would be the case with such an individual, and Mr. Bailey gets killed."

Also takes his children, innocent as this wife, who likely would be of the 'rubber stamp' variety, and they get intentioned killed, through the invasion or attack of an armed merchant vessel of either side, from Mr. Bailey say that the survivors of his family or his kith and kin should not ask the government to intercede for an arbitration of the rights of Mr. Bailey and seek an indemnity? Just because Mr. Bailey wouldn't be of the 'rubber stamp' nature to give up when he is warned, no redress could be had for his relations and dependents and if any redress would be forthcoming the whole thing would fall flat because of the fact that Bailey was warned but he was not of the 'rubber stamp' variety and could not be persuaded to desist and we have thousands of that variety, besides Mr. Bailey. Yes, no redress, dependents can have no recourse, no use to arbitrate, no court of last resort because, because, well because Mr. Bailey was not of a 'rubber stamp' variety.

The whole fabric of Mr. Bailey contention is so futile and out of reason that it fails of its own volition. Suppose a simple, little warning would release the United States government from all responsibility to safeguard its subjects, wouldn't it be just as reasonable to say that our railroads and other public utilities could escape responsibilities for negligence of its employees by as simple a warning? Under such a system of conduct the American government would be a farce and a fraud, the Compensation Acts would be a nullity and our courts would be useless. All we would need to do is to give warning and responsibilities would cease. We consider this act of warning nothing more than a scheme hatched at the time of Mr. Bailey's conference with Mr. Bryan at Washington a week before Congress opened only for the purpose of harassing the President.

President Wilson will avoid war if possible without any interference from Congress and its constitutional right to carry on diplomatic relations with other countries without being molested. The warning that Bailey and a hand full of others wanted to give has already been given. Everybody knows the dangers of foreign travel, even down to school children and a warning measure such as was proposed was nothing more than making the danger emphatic to the people. It carried no compulsive feature nor any feature eliminating the obligation of the United States government toward its sovereign citizens and therefore was futile. The President told Congress that to pass a futile resolution such as it was, would only embarrass him in his endeavors to combat for our international rights. Bailey by his vote against the administration's recommendation was in effect calling the President a falsifier. In whom are the people to have confidence, Bailey or Wilson? In whose does Bailey think the people have confidence? In whom did Congress have confidence?

We admit that it will cost money to prepare. We admit also, that the Republicans have spent fabulous sums for our army and navy, all to no avail. But, Bailey says nothing in his article concerning this previous squandering of money by the opposite party. No, he must insist on charging it to Wilson. Does that look like standing by the President? Aren't we trying to manufacture these munitions through government supervision to prevent this awful Republican waste? Why doesn't Bailey go after the system, not the object? The object, 'adequate preparedness', and safeguarding our rights, country and our homes is common sense. If the system of doing it, is extravagant, seek to change the system. Mr. Bailey would not think of leaving his office without locking safe, doors and vaults. In fact he is prepared for the invasions of thieves. That is an inherent quality, but if Mr. Bailey can do it cheaper next time by changing the system, that he should do. One method of economy is not sane and for Mr. Bailey to practice it would give him many restless and sleepless moments. Think of him going out of his office leaving money and valuables behind under no lock or key. 'Nite'. Don't argue against 'preparedness'. It's no use. You practice it every day of your life. We all, yes ALL, act in fear of invasion. It's human instinct.

Another instance in which Mr. Bailey wanted to gouge the President was when he said that if an expedition into Mexico was for the purpose of capturing Villa, he would favor it but if it meant war, he was opposed to it. Is Mr. Bailey the only sincere person in Washington? Hasn't the President over and over again stated that it was an expedition for the capture of Villa, only? It may be provocative of diplomatic relations being served with Carranza, but we hope not. We wonder at what point Mr. Bailey would throw up his hands and retrace in order to prevent war? Would he stop short of the capture of that murderous heathenish, blasphemous criminal? We stand for going after that cut throat. War begins when two people begin to fight and the more the people the larger the war. When it's a fighting within the borders of a country between its citizens it is a civil war and that is what is happening in Mexico. One faction of civilians is led by Carranza and that faction we, as a nation, have recognized as the government. But there is another faction led by Villa and is not recognized by any government. These factions are according to observations and tests about equal in strength. Bailey says we can go after the Villa faction but he will not favor war. Doesn't Villa have an army? Aren't we sending an army against him to capture the leader? Does Bailey think that Villa will allow himself to be hanged without a fight? We will be much obliged to Mr. Bailey if he can see the line clearly when war begins and a friendly pursuit ends. That would be a great help. Suppose it takes six months or a year to get Villa, would Bailey go on or quit? His stand is nothing more than a stand to embarrass the President. Of course Bailey is a 'rubber stamp' Congressman, but in the absence of that term, we couldn't name such a declaration.

BATHING.

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., D. D., Commissioner of Health.

When Adam first fell into the water the human race took a step forward. Civilization and bath tubs now go hand in hand.

Authorities may vary in discussing the merits of the hot bath, the tepid bath and the cold bath, but they all agree in the abstract that bathing is a necessity to good health and a prime promoter of self respect. The purpose of the skin of the accumulation or refuse matter is the prin-ary reason for the bath.

It is essential to good health that the skin be kept in proper condition as it automatically regulates the heat of the body, permitting it to cool off when it becomes too warm and keeping in heat when it becomes too cold.
It assists the lungs and kidneys in the disposal of refuse matter. When the skin sweats it assists the kidneys.
When not too heavily clothed it re-spires and helps the lungs.

A bath should not be taken too near meal time. There is a normal attraction of the blood toward the stomach after eating; any interference with this and the attraction of the blood toward the surface of the body is apt to arrest digestion.

Warm baths have a soothing effect and are often prescribed for nervousness. The tepid bath can do no harm.
Cold baths are stimulating but are apt to be injurious if the heart action is not strong enough to permit of a ready reaction. To some individuals the shock to the nervous system is so great that they cannot accustom themselves to cold baths.

Does Backache Worry You?

Some Bedford People Have Learned How To Get Relief.

How many people suffer from an aching back?
How few know the cause?
If it hurts to stoop or lift—if you suffer sudden, darting pains if you are weak, lame and tired.
Suspect your kidneys.

Watch for nature's signal.
The first sign may be headache or dizziness.

Scanty, painful or too frequent urination.

Nervousness or a constant, dead-tired feeling.

Avert the serious kidney diseases.
Treat the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys.

Endorsed in Bedford by your friends and neighbors.
Mrs. John Harnishfager, 313 E.
John St., Bedford, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for backaches and kidney weakness and they have benefited me more than any other medicine I have ever tried. Another one of the family has also used Doan's Kidney Pills and is now entirely free from all symptoms of kidney trouble. We give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for the benefit received."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs.
Harnishfager had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores.

Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

LESSON FOR MARCH 19

PHILIP AND THE ETHIOPIAN.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:26, 40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Understandest thou what thou readest?—Acts 8:30.

Beginning at verse four, chapter eight, we enter upon the second great division of the Book of the Acts. It marks the beginning of preaching outside of Jerusalem and also the employment of lay-preachers. The persecution of the Jerusalem church was chiefly led by Paul (v. 3) and resulted in a wider dissemination of the good news (v. 4). Philip the deacon went to Samaria where multitudes heard and saw (vv. 5, 8) and where a remarkable work of grace attended his dealing with Simon Magus, who thought he could buy the gift of the Holy Spirit bestowed by the apostles (v. 9-24). The apostles returned to Jerusalem (v. 25) leaving Philip to continue his great revival in Samaria.

I. Divine Preparation, vv. 26, 27, 40.
The marvelous way God leads us; ways we do not comprehend; to accomplish his great designs is nowhere better illustrated than here. Philip's work would seem to demand his individual and personal supervision, but he exhibits his superior wisdom by at once obeying this new command (Heb. 11:9). The Samaritan road joined the great Jerusalem highway to Egypt in the midst of uncultivated pasture land. Philip carried "sealed orders" and as he came to Gaza he met this man from the region south of Egypt, who was probably a Jewish proselyte, having adopted their religion, and was returning from worshipping at Jerusalem.

II. Diligent Study, v. 27-29. Philip overheard this high official as he was reading aloud from the prophecy by Isaiah, probably from the Greek translation. The Spirit directed Philip to join himself to this evidently honest inquirer, not because of his wealth and position but because he was a seeker after truth (John 7:17, Ps. 25:9). This statesman gives us a most simple and practical illustration (v. 28 R. V.) of how to study the Bible and to improve the time occupied in traveling. Both Luke, who wrote the Book of Acts, and Philip, the evangelist, seem to accept all of Isaiah without reservation. This method of reading study is the one that will surely secure for us revelations from God.

III. Direct Instruction, v. 30-35. We do not advocate indiscriminate assault upon every passing stranger in our desire to do personal work. Philip look each step as directed by the Holy Spirit. If we are attuned to the Spirit's "still voice" we will surely hear his "Go near" which will send us to those whom we may win for Christ.
It is true that this passage from the prophet Isaiah is somewhat obscure and, apart from Jesus of Nazareth, in-reconcilable. "In his justification his judgment (justice) was taken away"— a fair trial not given; "his generation who shall declare" (Am. 6:1, V.).
I. e., his contemporaries who among them considered that he was cut off out of the land of the living (New Cent. Bible). Prof. G. A. Smith has declared that "none but prejudiced Jews have ever denied that this great prophecy, known as the fifty-third of Isaiah, was fulfilled in Jesus of Nazareth, and achieved all of its details in him alone." Philip's question was a pertinent one; good for this present time, and the eunuch's reply was much more frank than many professed Christians of today would be willing to admit. We have one who is ready to guide even as God met this ruler's need (John 14:26; 16:13; 1 Jno. 2:27). The importance of understanding is great (Matt. 13:19, 15:20; 24:15). The two portraits here presented of the Messiah are seemingly irreconcilable and are still a great puzzle to the Jews. Prince of Peace, despised and rejected; Suffering Savior, King eternal; there are many such seeming paradoxes.

IV. Declared Faith, v. 36-40. The eunuch had doubtless seen the rite of baptism in Jerusalem and at the first opportunity he desired to make public his new found faith. Baptism is confession and a symbol (Rom. 6:1-8) and immediately after the eunuch's declaration of faith (v. 37) Philip at once administered the rite, after which, his work being done, Philip is whisked away, while the eunuch journeyed on "rejoicing."

These two men were total strangers, yet this "wayide conversation" gains one who must have heralded for the Gospel as he witnessed along his journey and in his home land.

Philip made Caesarea his home and twenty years later met Paul in that city (Acts 21:8).

Philip worked without the machinery of an "organized movement" and evidently without any emphasis upon the offering.

Do we look for the Spirit's personal leadings?

Are we ready for every opportunity?
Can we tell men the way of life, how to become a Christian?

How many Sunday school teachers can intelligently use the word of God in answering the inquiry, "What must I do to be saved?"

AN UNEDITED ITEM

Among the onerous tasks of a newspaper office, especially in the smaller towns, not the least is the editing or "copy" of local importance that is submitted from the outside.
Bishop Scadding of Oregon showed an intelligent appreciation of this as well as an unexpected knowledge of the conditions and requirements when in delivering an address on the press and referring to the careless writing of church notices, he said: "The task of preparing several hundred notices has become the most detested work in the newspaper offices and every Friday night our civilizing influence on the working staff is in a large measure undone. It is only due to the newspapers that we be courteous even in this small matter and take pains to present well-dressed and carefully prepared copy. In preparing matter for the press you should observe newspaper rules of composition: Tell your story in the first three lines—three words are better —and elaborate afterward. Then the reader can not ring off before you have told him the gist of what you have to say."

Editors sometimes publish items of news brought in by respected citizens just as written by the latter and without revision or touching up, owing to the lateness of the hour and the stress and rush of going to press in time to catch mail trains. This is more likely to happen in the smaller newspaper offices where the staff is limited and too often overworked.
But when in their later leisure editors look over such items, they are apt to regret keenly that they yielded to the temptation to take such hazardous risk. As a rule, however, their remorse is less frantic than that of Mark Twain on one occasion when he was a country editor in the West.
The difficulties connected with church notices and the like are but slight compared with those, while country editors are sometimes called upon to grapple with. Mark Twain's example will show.

In his "Editorial Wild Oats" he tells of an item of news brought in by an esteemed friend which he permitted to go in unexamined and which, under the heading of "Distressing Accident," read as follows:

"Last evening, about six o'clock, as Mr. William Schuyler, an old and respectable citizen of South Park was leaving his residence to go down town, as has been his usual custom for many years with the exception of only a short interval in the spring of 1850 during which he was confined to his bed by injuries received in attempting to stop a runaway horse by thoughtlessly placing himself directly in its wake and throwing up his hands and shouting, which, if he had done so a single moment sooner, must inevitably have frightened the animal still more instead of checking its speed although disastrous enough to himself as it was, and rendered more melancholy and distressing by reason of the presence of his wife's mother who was there and saw the sad occurrence, notwithstanding it is at least likely, though not necessarily so, that she should be reconnoitering in another direction when accidents occur, not being vivacious and on the lookout as a general thing, but even the reverse as her own mother is said to have stated, who is more, but died in the full hope of a glorious resurrection, upward of three years ago, aged eighty-six, being a Christian woman and without guile, as it were, in consequence of the fire of 1849, which destroyed every single thing she had in the world. But such in life. Let us all take warning by this solemn occurrence, let us so conduct ourselves that when we come to die we can do it. Let us say with earnestness and sincerity that from this day forth we will beware of the intoxicating bowl."

The Road to Hell.

An old document issued by the school board of Lancaster, Ohio, in 1828, and brought to light by being recently published in "Railway Engineering," brings a broad smile to our faces as we read it, but how many of us will make application to our own time? Here it is: "You are welcome to use the schoolhouse to debate all proper questions in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities and rank infidelities. There is nothing in the word of God about them. If God has designed that his intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 15 miles an hour, by steam, he would have clearly foretold through his holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immoral souls down to hell."

The Shower Bath.

Young athletes often injure themselves by staying too long under the shower. Five minutes should be the limit; less than five minutes when a boy gets "on edge" towards the close of the season. Too much water is enervating. The athlete may not feel it at the time, but it will sap his strength when the supreme test comes, in the last inning of a hard game or the finish of a hard race.

An athlete should get under the shower as soon as he comes off the gymnasium floor or in from the field, while his body is still warm from exercise. If he sits down to cool off, his muscles will stiffen and the physiological effect of the bath will not be so good. Turn on the warm water first, because cold water is too great a shock to the nervous system, and because the sweat and dirt will be dissolved and washed away better by warm water. Three or four minutes under the warm water, with soap, is long enough. Then turn on the cold water gradually, rubbing the body briskly with your hands. A minute under the cold water is sufficient. Be sure to finish with cold water, first, because it is tonic, stimulating all the vital activities by its effect upon the nervous system; second, because it renders one less liable to catch cold from draft or exposure—injures the system, to cold and fortifies against it.

As soon as you step from under the shower, give yourself a vigorous rub with a coarse towel, rubbing until the skin fairly glows. You should experience almost immediately a warm glow, a sense of general physical well-being. This is termed the reaction and is a test of condition. If you feel it, you are in good condition.
If you do not feel it, if you have a chilly, creepy sensation, or feel dopy, your system is out of order, you have gone "stale," or you have remained under the shower too long.

Do not let the water run over your head oftener than once. Snake it washes away the oil of the hair becomes dry and falls out early in life. Hopkwinter, thoroughly dry t-fore going out of doors. Forc-are caught every ye-neglect of this simple r-
